

Owner and cinematographer at Big Noodle Sheets, Les Wu, grew up in the Oklahoma City area. He has a bachelor's degree and MBA from the University of Oklahoma, with a career background in corporate finance and investment banking. He did video production on the side for about two years before moving to professional video production full-time in 2019.

Our main areas of expertise at Big Noodle Sheets are commercials, educational and training videos, corporate communications, event coverage (seminars, conventions and expos, sporting events), and narrative film such as documentaries. We go the extra mile to listen, learn, understand your needs, and reliably produce content that fits you. From pre-production planning to post-production and after-sales service, we are here to make the experience as pleasant and stress-free as possible for you. We frequently work with agencies (advertising, marketing, PR), manufacturers, educators, medical providers, tech and e-commerce companies, non-profits, and other production companies.

Les has extensive experience as DP on one-man-band and skeleton crew jobs. For corporate, documentary, political, network jobs and more, he is very efficient and delivers consistently high-quality footage. For a list of his job credits, please see <https://staffmeup.com/profile/bignoodlesheets>.
